

Biography Erich & Walter Polz

Erich and Walter Polz – Wine with true regional typicity

Distinguished by numerous awards and honorary mentions of their wines in national and international contexts, Erich and Walter Polz have secured a place among Austria's top wine producers. In 1988, they took over the Polz winery in Grassnitzberg and they have since branched out into various cooperative endeavours devoted to the production and distribution of wines of great quality and regional typicity.

For more than ten years now, Erich and Walter Polz have been making the wine at the Rebenhof in Ratsch an der Weinstrasse. Their expertise is also a valuable asset at the Miro Vino winery on the Jeruzalem Weinstrasse in Slovenia, and at the Tschepp winery in Pössnitzberg, which the Polz brothers have bought outright. Another cooperation links them to the historic Seggau monastery, where the brothers are helping the Sausal wine region to reach new quality levels and international recognition. In all their ventures, regional typicity and individuality is the most important consideration. Different terroirs must result in different wines.

To market and present great wine and other delicacies in atmospheric surroundings, Erich and Walter Polz have also founded the Vinofaktur shop in Ehrenhausen.
